TITLE: Spice Up Your Linens: Towels, Aprons, Potholders, & More (Local Root)

ABOUT THE BLOG/BRIEF:

We've talked a lot recently about cookware, gadgets, and knives—let's shift the focus over to kitchen linens. I really want to emphasize how having a new apron can make cooking fun and clean. Ditch your drab old linens and opt for one of these fun, colorful, and fresh options!

Here are the items I would like to feature:

- Libeco Home Gunnison Apron In Bronze
- Libeco Home Cafe Apron
- Garnier Thiebaut Hortensias Bleu Apron
- Farmhouse Pottery Indigo Round Pot Holder
- Farmhouse Pottery Agrarian Linen Pot Holder
- Garnier Thiebaut The Kitchen Paprika Kitchen Towel
- Garnier Thiebaut Patissier Gris Kitchen Towel
- Libeco Home Bonnie Brae Tea Towel

 Don't worry about imagery or searching for images—I'm happy to handle that and already have a few in mind. I added a featured image to the posts already, so those are all set.

POST DATE: Schedule for January 25th at 10:00 AM

Remember to include:

- Lots of links to our website. Link products, previous blogs, collections, and brands throughout the blog copy. Don't make the entire blog one continuous link, of course, but adding backlinks improves SEO and leads people back to our website.
- Vivid descriptions. Talk about the product in detail, explain how it works and can help them. Let's be concise but also bulk up the content so it isn't something like "this peeler is great for peeling". Really get into it! Release your inner chef!
- Keywords. Keywords are key. Don't forget to include words like kitchen, kitchenware, cooking, cookware, chef, baker, etc. Anything related to kitchen—try to include words and phrases that people might search for on Google and stumble upon our blog. Don't fret too much about this part—you'll get better with experience—but it is a GREAT blog writing tip that you'll use throughout your career!

[INTRO]

The start of a new year is the perfect time to freshen up your environment. Crisp, clean new kitchen linens can truly reenergize a space. Ditch those drab, old linens and ring in the new year with a fresh look. If you're looking for some beautiful colors and elegant patterns to add to your kitchen, keep reading!

A new apron can inspire exciting new baking adventures and creative recipes. Start your baking and cooking endeavors off in style with Libeco Home's colorful Gunnison Apron in Bronze. This apron is made of 100% Belgian linen and sturdy canvas. The olive green base ties in clean, natural tones with the colored ribbon adding a fun, bold touch. Got something more classic in mind? Also from Libeco Home e: a more traditional Cafe Apron is the perfect addition to a neutral wardrobe. The apron features a classic around-the-waist fit and a gentle, natural light tan color. This color scheme allows for versatile use and features a sturdy, 100% linen construction. Maybe you're thinking about adding an elegant touch to your cooking experience. If that's the case, check out Garnier Thiebaut's Hortensias Bleu Apron. This indigo apron features a sophisticated floral design of hydrangeas, made comfortable by organic cotton—both fashionable and functional!

Let's talk pot holders. If you're looking for some high-quality, functional basics, consider Farmhouse Pottery's neutral Indigo Round Pot Holder and classic Agrarian Linen Pot Holder. Both are made of crisp, clean, 100% linen. The Agrarian Linen Pot Holder is the perfect addition to a farmhouse-style kitchen, bringing a quaint charm to your cooking needs. The Indigo Round Pot Holder is a versatile staple for any kitchen setup. Like the look of these? If you're interested in similar styles and designs, check out other Farmhouse Pottery linens at Didriks and Local Root. If this style isn't exactly your cup of tea, Didriks features additional brands such as OXO and Kitchen Basics with contemporary pot holders, kitchen towels, and aprons. Browse all kitchen linens both online and in-store to find the perfect addition to your kitchen.

A funky hand towel can elevate any space—hang from the oven door, or wrap one around a batch of hot, fresh-from-the-oven bread rolls (such as the delectable Chocolate Chip Brioche Crown Bread on our Local Root blog). Take a look at the bright, cheerful Bonnie Brae Tea Towel from Libeco Home. The lemon yellow and pink accents provide an instant mood boost during the dark, dull winter months. Or, consider a tea towel that serves as a talking point among dinner guests. Garnier Thiebaut towels feature graphic designs to pique the interest of any chef or baker, highlighted in designs such as their Paprika Kitchen Towel and Patissier Gris Kitchen Towel. These 100% cotton towels are French-made and provide an elegant accent to your kitchen.

Whether you are on the hunt for aprons, pot holders, towels, or all of the above, Local Root has linens to satisfy your every design and functionality need. Beyond these featured items, check out a variety of other kitchen linens online to find the perfect pattern and material to match your aesthetic. Plus, enjoy free shipping straight to your door on all orders over $80. Happy shopping!
